WHAT ARE SOME OF THE MAJOR CHALLENGES FACING OUR NONPROFIT ORGANIZATION

Victor Gamaldo, Financial Advisor & CSSF Advisory Board Member

Congratulation to all the recipients of this year's scholarship awards. In 2011 and 2012, Mr. Ian Bain and Dr. Desiree De Florimonte addressed, in the award banquet brochure, the challenges facing the Caribbean student entering college. However, this year the intent is to focus on the challenges facing the CSSF nonprofit organization.

EMERGENT THEMES FOR MANY NONPROFITS

Some fundamental concerns were commonly identified in many studies related to nonprofit future challenges. The following are the five major themes that clearly emerged from these studies that are believed to be equally applicable to our organization. These themes are as follows:

1. Board Development - Building an active and strategically oriented board of directors was the most frequent concern. Specific issues identified were:
  - a) Recruiting high-impact board members.
  - b) Cultivating a dynamic and effective culture among board members.
  - c) Fostering a strategic orientation for boards.
2. Marketing/fundraising – Developing effective marketing programs to recruit and retain donors was also a high priority. In particular, the studies suggests that respondents were concerned about:
  - a) Applying marketing/communications techniques to donor contact activities.
  - b) Expanding their current donor base.
  - c) Increasing donations from current donors as well as enhancing donor loyalty and retention.
3. Information Management – Utilizing effective information management for measuring and evaluating operations and programs, was also very important.
  - a) Establishing a clear set of quality benchmarks for assessing services.
  - b)Using IT to reduce costs and create value.
  - c)Establishing a better model for measuring and reporting outcomes.
  - d) Measuring the real benefit of development and marketing investments.
  - e) Devising a consistent approach for measuring our organizational performance and impact.
4. Human Resources – Attracting, developing and retaining productive staff and volunteers was a critical concern.
  - a)Developing a leadership transition and succession plan.
  - b) Seeking and implementing programs to improve volunteer performance.
5. Collaboration - pursuing alliances, partnerships, and mergers was also a significant issue.
  - a) Developing collaborative partnerships with public sector agencies, including government.
  - b)Forging collaborative partnerships with the private sector.
  - c)Pursuing mergers with overlapping services/agencies.

Having identified some of the major challenges facing most not-for-profit organizations in the future, an attempt will now be made to identify the implications for our future organizational success.

A SIX STEP PRESCRIPTION

Seen from this perspective, there are six actions that our nonprofit organization can immediately take to achieve these characteristics noted above and address the challenges we will ultimately face:

1. Undertake an organizational assessment and create a strategic plan to address any capacity deficits.
2. Engage our board members to ensure quality governance structure, practice and oversight.
3. Embrace a adopt sound marketing and communication strategies.
4. Build business skill sets and integrate basic business practices and tools.
5. Identify and implement appropriate programs and make better use of technology to enable evaluation of the success and impact of the delivery service as well as the internal operations.
6. Explore and adopt new collaborative business models with complementary organizations.

The members of CSSF have worked diligently over the years to make this scholarship program available. Needless to say they will continue to make the appropriate changes to meet tomorrow's demands. However, CSSF needs your help in its quest to be a viable organization several years from now. I therefore challenge you, this years awards recipients, to review the nonprofit challenges that the organization is facing and seeks ways to volunteer and contribute, to the future success of CSSF.

2014 CSSF SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS

Jacqueline Baird is an 18 year old graduate from Elizabeth Seton, High School in Bladensburg, Maryland. She graduated in May of 2013, and received an academic and athletic scholarship to Point Park University in Pittsburgh, PA. She is currently pursuing an Electrical Engineering degree, and is also on the Volleyball team at her University.

“I have played since high school and the sport has taught me how hard a student athlete must work, study, and train to succeed in college. The life of a college freshman, as well as a freshmen student athlete has had challenges that I never thought I would encounter so early in the game. The challenges have made me stronger, and more disciplined. The struggle continues to keep me focused and hungry to achieve my dreams and get what I want out of this life.”

Shadiva Martin is a 17 years old and attending Frederick Douglass High School in Upper Marlboro, MD. In her senior year, she will be graduating in May 2014. She plans to attend Winston-Salem State University in the fall of August 2014. Her mother is from Shelby, NC and her father is from Skeldon, Guyana.

“I have been very active in the community by volunteering as a Camp Counselor and Senior Counselor working with children. I have been working with summer students since the 8th grade. I spent many hours doing community service in the summer because I like helping others and also being a role model to younger children. My senior year hasn't been the greatest, but I have been trying to make the best of it, despite my (cheerleading) injury and the challenges I have faced as a result. I look forward to my prom, which is May 23, 2014 and of course graduation. My future goal is to pursue a career in the Criminal Justice field and to some day further my education beyond a Bachelor's Degree.”

2014 CSSF SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS

Mauricia Davidson is an international student from Chaguanas, Trinidad and Tobago. She received her undergraduate education from Howard University where she was accepted on a full, four-year academic scholarship. Ms. Davidson graduated Summa cum Laude with Phi Beta Kappa honors and a Bachelor's degree in Human Performance- Sports Medicine, thus making her a first generation college graduate. Now, at 23 years old, Mauricia is pursuing her greatest ambition of becoming a physician as she is currently completing her first year of medical school at Howard University College of Medicine.

Kobi Marshall is an 18 year old freshman at Howard University. She is currently pursuing a Bachelors of Business Administration with a major in Accounting. Subsequently, she plans to attain her Masters of Business Administration. She is currently on the Dean's list in the School of Business and is a member of the National Association of Black Accountants. She manages her own business, KDesign, which provides hair services for clients. Her ultimate goal is to become a CEO of a major corporation and eventually create her own enterprise. Kobi is a member of the Caribbean Students Association. She is also a member of the Tropical Riddimz Dance Team and is a costume designer. Being the daughter of Trinidadian parents, Marlon and Marion Marshall, Kobi embraces her Caribbean heritage and enjoys the culture and food of Trinidad and Tobago.

Dr Keith and Berna Warner

$2000.00

“Over the years, we have been supporters of the CSSF through Love in Action, whose operations in this country we have now suspended, while we continue its projects in Trinidad and Tobago. However, we recognize the invaluable contribution the CSSF has made to the academic development of our students of Caribbean heritage, and wish to continue our support on a personal level. We think it is important to show our seven grandchildren and all others of the coming generation to importance of giving back to the community, and of maintaining and strengthening their link to their heritage. We trust that our example will inspire both scholarship recipients and their supporters to continue the tradition of giving, and make it possible for an even greater number of students to benefit.”

West Indian American Military Members Association (WIAMMA)

$2000.00

“One of WIAMMA’s goals is to make a difference in the Caribbean community in the metropolitan area. Our tenure with the Caribbean Students’ Scholarship Fund (CSSF) program is a testament to our commitment.

The US Armed Forces was the foundation for our members’ success in life and we hope the CSSF program financial contributions can be the foundation for a better life for the the recipients and we hope, they will not only keep the American flag flying high but those of the Caribbean as well. We look forward to staying united with the CSSF program for another 10 years and more.”

“We are elated to support the CSSF Inc. in their efforts to assist our future leaders in accomplishing their career goals. It’s commitment and dedication to financially support the education of our youths is commendable.”

“My initial feeling upon learning of my scholarship award was pure elation. I was so happy that I earned the chance to receive money that aided me in my academic pursuits. My parents were very happy of course. The day that I learned I received this award will always remain a highlight in my life. After getting over the initial surprise, I reflected on what significance the award had on my life...It came as ‘a breath of fresh air’ that was desperately needed. The award itself though signified to me that there was (and continues to be) a strong Caribbean community presence in Washington, DC.”

CSSF, INC ADVISORY BOARD MEMBERS

MICHAEL IAN BAIN

“As I consider my time working with the ladies of the Working Women’s Committee, I have always been impressed with their drive, their appreciation of the project, the clarity of their goals, their love of the homeland, and their desire to make a difference. The process has not always been easy or straightforward, and they have had to overcome many obstacles; but their commitment has never wavered. As is their way, they identify the task, set a plan, and go about seeking solutions with energy, and as a unit. That said, observing the team at work, each with her particular skills and personality can, on occasion, be considered an unique experiment in behavioral science.”

WINFIELD ST HILL

“It is a pleasure serving on this board. I am always excited to meet the prospective recipients so I could learn what their thought processes are about not only furthering their education, but how they would like to use their education to not only help the country of their birth but also their parent(s)’ country of birth. It is truly amazing to learn how much knowledge these children of Caribbean descent have on the Caribbean islands. It is nice to know that the people of the Caribbean will be represented here in the US for years to come. Glad to be part of this wave.”

Dr DESIREE DeFLORIMONTE

“It is always heartwarming to meet a talented and motivated student whose desire to pursue a degree from an institution of higher learning. No student should ever be denied this opportunity due to financial constraints. As a member of the CSSF Advisory Board, I am honored and dedicated to serving to ensure that deserving students are beneficiaries of scholarships. It is also very satisfying to work with other Advisory Board members in order to further enhance the mission of CSSF”

VICTOR GAMALDO

“Very few organizations are as committed to the enhancement of our community as the Working Women’s Committee. One such cause is the Caribbean Students’ Scholarship program that provides scholarships to children of Caribbean ancestry. Children entering college today need a great deal of financial assistance since college tuition is increasing faster than the rate of inflation. Thus, three years ago when I was asked to be involved in an advisory capacity on the board of trustees, I immediately accepted the offer. My involvement has given me the satisfaction of knowing, that in some small way I may be improving the lives of our young men and women and enabling them to be better prepared to be tomorrow’s leaders”
